Loomis Cash & Valuables In Transit

Getting your cash in the bank safely

Our Cash & Valuables in Transit service brings your business secure, efficient and indemnified delivery.

Loomis is here to make sure cash circulates efficiently and securely. We transport billions of pounds every year, so you can be assured that your money is in safe hands.

Our service is also risk free — your cash is indemnified up to the agreed indemnity limit from the moment it enters our control.

When you use our Cash & Valuables in Transit (CViT) service, you enjoy a secure and economical system for supplying and depositing money, provided by the UK's premier cash specialist.

Loomis CViT offers benefits to businesses, public sector organisations and financial institutions alike.

How we can support you

CViT for business, retail and the public sector

Whether you are in business or the public sector, Loomis can help you save money and increase the efficiency of your cash collections — whether you operate from a single location or a whole chain of outlets.

Loomis will work closely with you to analyse your requirements and we can offer:

- Cash collections at intervals that suit you — and match the weekly or seasonal changes in your takings
- Collections of different sums — you're not tied into inflexible collections of fixed amounts
- Collections that take into account the amount of cash you're insured to keep on the premises.

Our focus is helping you manage your cash - securely and efficiently

We'll also work with you to monitor changes in your requirements, reducing or increasing the number of collections — so that you only pay for the cash collections you need.

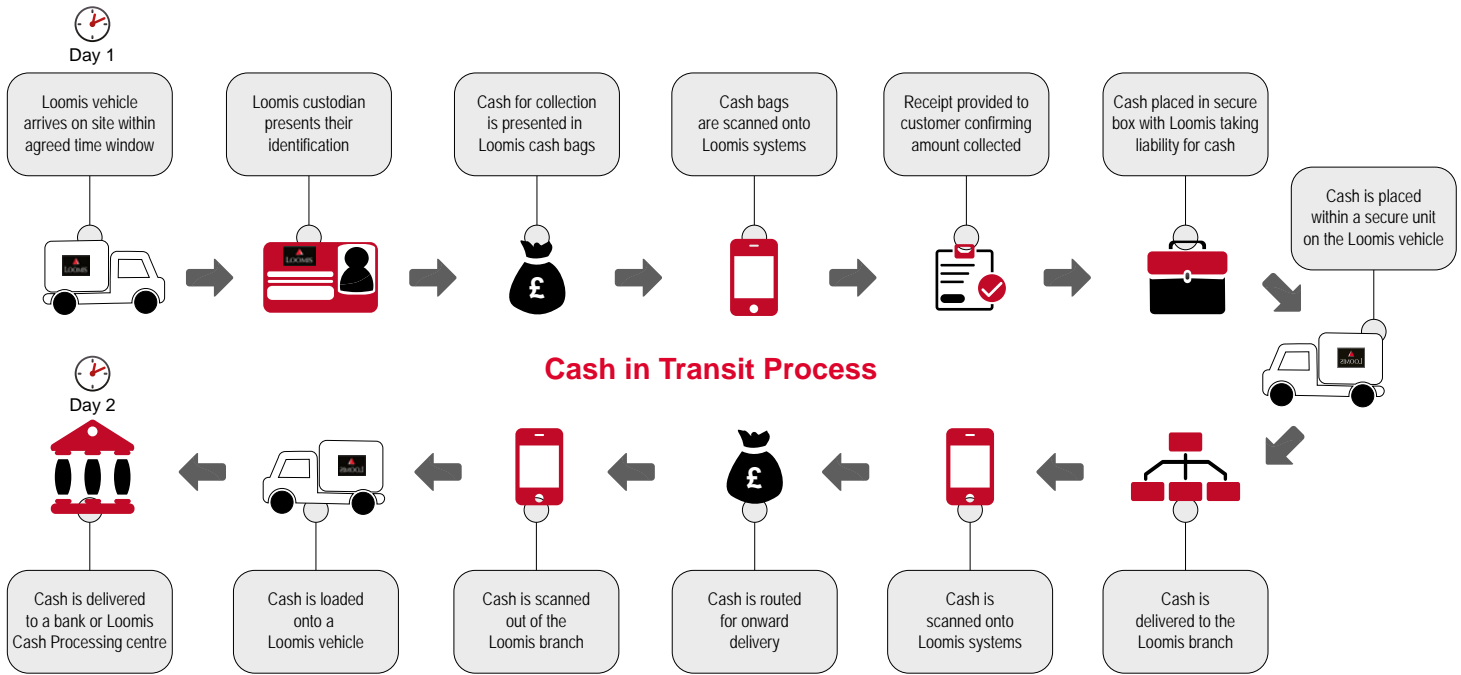

And because your staff don't have to take cash to the bank, it frees up their time and keeps them, your business and the public safer.

What our customers say:

Alongside the reduction in risk to staff and the time that we have saved, keeping our managers in the business rather than in their cars transporting cash to the bank was the most crucial benefit. We are genuinely delighted with our decision and the service delivered.

What our customers say:

"We contacted several Cash in Transit providers to help us. Loomis stood out because not only did they respond to our requests very quickly, but did so in such a professional manner.

From there, we worked together to agree collection days that suited our stores and following a survey by their risk team, we were up and running.

Collections happen when they are scheduled to and we don't have to worry about the safety of our branch takings. We were really surprised by the low costs associated with the services provided."
