What our customers say:

When a unique service provider required bespoke collections from some of the UK's largest festivals, the Loomis Special Services team stepped in to lend support.

Based in Copenhagen, Volt was founded in 2012 and provides a mobile charging service at 40 different festivals in six countries, which includes Sonisphere, T in the Park, Reading, and the Isle of Wight festivals in the UK.

The team at Volt knew that the events circuit in the UK could be extremely lucrative for their business, but first needed confidence that the logistical challenge of transporting the cash could be managed in a secure and cost-effective manner.

"Our first year in the UK went really well. We've established a good client base and we're hoping to build on this. Loomis will be a part of this - we're really very happy with how things have gone."

What our customers say:

In 2014 J&S Bars contacted Loomis and requested support with the collection of cash from the bars they intended to operate at the Willow Festival.

The Special Services team developed a solution which minimised the risk associated with the collection of the cash and maximised J&S Bars utilisation of services.

"I could not have asked for a smoother operation!" said J&S Bars owner John Scriven.

"The Willow Festival has been a fantastic event and a great learning curve for all of us at J&S Bars. It was very satisfying to see the weeks of planning working perfectly. Loomis were a massive part of that."
